TELEGRAMS.

STRIKE IN PORTUGAL.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

Bombay, Jan. 31, 6.30 a.m.

A general strike is taking place in Lisbon in sympathy with the agricultural strike in Evora. Despatches from Lisbon indicate that the situation is grave, but the censorship obscures the realities.

SOLDIERS EVERYWHERE.

The streets are practically deserted, the shops are shut, and the theatres are closed. There are soldiers everywhere.

The Council of Ministers are taking steps to prevent a bread famine. The British flag has been hoisted over the electric tramway buildings.

STRIKERS DISPERSED.

Troops are reinforcing the garrison. The strikers attempted to assemble, but were easily dispersed by cavalry. There have been some dynamite explosions but the details are not stated.

INCITING THE STRIKERS.

It is semi-officially announced that the strike in Evora has been exploited both by reactionaries and anarchists who are inciting the strikers to assassination and pillage. The authorities in consequence have been forced to the use of military in the streets.

TRAMS ATTACKED.

London, Jan. 30, 5.35 p.m.

Reuter's correspondent at Lisbon states that some business was being done in the afternoon and a few trams were running under a cavalry escort.

The strikers twice attacked the trams, but the drivers used their revolvers.

TROUBLE SPREADING.

EQUADOR REVOLUTION.

VENGEFUL MOB.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 4.55 a.m.

A revolutionary outbreak in Equador has been crushed after a sanguinary battle. The mob at Guayaquil lynched the rebel commander, shooting, beheading and burning him. Five of the revolutionary generals were subsequently sent to Quito and imprisoned. The mob attacked the guards and, although several were killed in the volleys fired, they breached the walls of the jail and dragged out and killed the generals. The bodies were then dragged through the streets to the cemetery, where they were buried.—Reuter.

TURKS KILLED.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 8 p.m.

LEPROSY CURES.

INTERESTING REPORT.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 8 p.m.

A further report on the nascent and benzoyl chlorine treatments of leprosy in British Guiana is issued.

The former appears to have little or no influence, but the latter is extremely valuable as a nasal spray or for painting ulcerating surfaces. It quickly renders the discharge free of bacilli, but subcutaneously its utility is most doubtful.—Reuter.

HOME RULE.

BELFAST MEETING.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 4 p.m.

The football ground at Belfast has been chosen for Mr. Churchill's meeting as the Liberals were refused the use of no fewer than six halls. A marquee will be erected capable of accommodating five thousand, and there will be a procession of thirty thousand headed by four hundred torch-bearers and fifteen bands. The choice of locality is regarded as easing the situation but the authorities of Belfast have requisitioned troops in case of emergency.—(Reuter's).

SUGAR CROP.

UNFAVOURABLE REPORTS.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 4.55 a.m.

Reuter's correspondent at Havana says that the continuance of unusually warm weather is unfavourably affecting the sugar crop. The cane contains an average of ten per cent. less sugar than last year, and it is feared that the estimate of eighteen and a quarter million tons will turn out to be greatly in excess of the actual yield.

AMERICAN NAVY.

NO INCREASE.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 1.50 p.m.

Reuter's Washington correspondent says that the caucus of the Democrats in the House of Representatives, in pursuance of its policy of economy, has voted against any increase of the Navy during the present Session.

The result is to interrupt the programme of two battleships yearly, which was initiated under Mr. Roosevelt.—Reuter.

LATE TELEGRAMS.

(From Manila Papers.)

Washington, January 25.

Commander Bartolotta, United States Navy, in command of the U. S. S. Yorktown, died of yellow fever yesterday at Guayaquil. The Yorktown has been cruising for some time in South American waters. The body will be embalmed and brought to the United States.

Washington, January 26.

The latest development in the political situation of the United States is the rapid formation of Roosevelt clubs in various parts of the country. The matter has been given special notice by the press. The opponents of the former President allege that he is in secret instigating the formation of these clubs for the purpose of furthering his alleged ambitions for the nomination of the Republican party. Note has been taken of the fact that some of the new clubs have been formed in Ohio.

William Jennings Bryan announced yesterday that Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey is right in his controversy with Colonel George Harvey, editor of "Harper's Weekly" and the "North American Review." Mr. Bryan highly praises Governor Wilson for his advocacy of presidential primaries, the initiative and referendum and other progressive measures in defiance of the dictum of Colonel Harvey, his former backer and old time friend.

Three members of the United States Senate have declared their adherence to the Taft boom for re-election; they are Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, Reed Smoot of Utah and Murray Crane of Massachusetts. These senators have avowed that they will support the President in his efforts to obtain the nomination of his party. An effort has been made to poll the Republican wing of the Senate on the subject but most of the members of the conservative faction are reticent on the matter.

The ways and means committee of the House of Representatives has reported to the house a bill reducing the tariff on steel. This is a part of the Democratic tariff program, and is intended, Chairman Underwood says, to follow up the schedules introduced and passed during the special session of Congress.

CANTON NEWS.

(Telegraph Correspondent.)

Canton, January 30.

In reply to the letter of the Commissioner of Police demanding an explanation from the Chinese bankers for refusing to exchange the notes of issue into subsidiary coins, the Chun Shun Bankers Guild in Canton says that when the old notes of issue bearing the seal of the New Government were put on the money market, the Governor General notified the public that these notes should be accepted as coins. Thus it is clear that the people were wrong to ask the banks to change the notes of issue for coins. Moreover the bankers are not money changers; their business is entirely different. The letter points out that there is a shortage of subsidiary coins circulating in the market, which has to a certain extent caused inconvenience to the bankers in Hongkong, as the latter only accept subsidiary coins in exchange for Hongkong bank notes.

The banks have much difficulty in obtaining coins from the Official Specie Department as their employees have to wait sometimes for hours before they can change the notes into coins. Besides the Official Specie Department only gives change to those wearing badges and those without them could never get their notes changed. In the opinion of the bankers' guild, the Government ought to require the mint to work day and night in order to turn out more coins to relieve the strain on the money market.

The Canton Government is in need of funds to finance the Cantonese troops to take part in the march upon Peking, and has now decided to sell all paddy fields belonging to the old government. The proceeds will be devoted to the above purpose. It is also the intention of the government to sell the shares belonging to the old government in the electrical power company in Canton. Notice has been inserted in the papers to the effect that all the share scripts held by the old government which have been taken away by the former officials will be considered null and void. New scripts will be issued to intending buyers.

President Sun Yat-sen has notified the Canton Governor General of the enforcement of a new ordinance protecting owners of properties within the jurisdiction of the new government. By this ordinance, owners of private properties with have the full benefits derived from their properties. Similar privileges will also be given to owners of properties who either have been or still are the officials of the Manchu Government so long as they do not oppose the new Government or ill-treat the republicans. Those who are opposing the new Government in the capacity of Manchu officials, will be deprived of their properties within the jurisdiction of the new Government. All the properties hitherto belonging to the old Government will be taken charge of by the new Government.

INTENSE FROST.

ENGLAND GRIPPED.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

London, Jan. 30, 12.5 p.m.

Intense frost is being experienced throughout England. Windermere and other lakes are frozen over and skating is taking place on hundreds of flooded acres in the Thames Valley.—Reuter.

THE REVOLUTION.

How It Started.

Some interesting details are given by the "Central China Post" of a matter which has never hitherto been properly cleared up, namely how the revolution actually began. According to interviews published in this paper the principal agent was Liu Kung, now Inspector-General in the Wuchang Government, and Sun Wu, General Li Yuan-hung's Chief of Staff, who was associated with Liu in bomb-making.

Liu first took up revolutionary work ten years ago, but did nothing particular until 1905 when as a student in Japan he came under the influence of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. In June, 1911, he came to Wuchang, armed with 10,000 which had been given him by his family, apparently to buy an office, and with the aid of Sun Wu set to work to suborn the soldiers. The engineers and artillerymen joined readily enough, the others had to be intimidated by threats of being blown up.

In the Russian Cession. Of the actual outbreak Liu is reported to have said:—

"We had planned to begin the revolution in December—simultaneously in eight provinces. We had drawn up lists showing the amount of the funds in the provincial treasuries, so that we knew the amount we should probably have to begin operations with. My wife, who is a zealous revolutionist and who recently went to Shanghai to organize a corps of woman soldiers, had undertaken to disguise herself as a poor peddler woman in order that she might throw a bomb at the Viceroy. This was to be the beginning of the revolution."

Sun and Liu were experts in bomb making but on October 9 Sun carelessly allowed a bomb to explode. This was in the house in the Russian Cession.

"This betrayed our plot before we were ready. Russian policemen came to our place and seized our plant, together with proclamations we had prepared; despatches to the foreign Consulates, private letters, a list of the revolutionaries, and a large number of badges. These badges had a design like that now used on the Republican military flag. Instantly the arrests began, among those seized being Liu's wife and brother of whom the latter was tortured, according to Liu, to make him reveal Liu's hiding place. This brother and Mrs. Liu were released after the flight of Viceroy Jui Cheng."

General Li's Reluctance. Liu saw that the only hope now was to start the revolt forthwith. He wrote to the soldiers ordering them to rise and, as the orthodox badges had been seized, he instructed them that any white band tied round the arm would serve. Thus began the famous revolt of October 10, but it is interesting to note that in the beginning the revolutionaries only had 3,700 soldiers all told on their side. They chose General Li as their leader, but had to threaten to cut his head off before he would accept.

THE BOOK WORLD.

(In this column will appear from time to time reviews of books and chat on books and writers.)

Revolution and Literature.

The Revolution is certain in due course to bring forth a crop of books. The world is waiting to know what was the actual genesis of the revolution and who were really the moving spirits. No doubt Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who has had already the distinction of publishing a book in English, will later on, when he has more leisure either write or provide the materials for a history of the movement. It will be remembered that "General" Homer Lea, who accompanied Dr. Sun Yat-sen, from Europe, is the author of the much discussed book "The Valour of Ignorance," and we have it on reliable authority that he aspires to be the historian of the Chinese Revolution. At present Mr. Lea, whose interests are catholic, has in preparation a volume on "The Defence of Great Britain." Whether Mr. Lea would be quite so well adapted to write the history of the Revolution as any of the "old hands" who join to literary ability a knowledge of the Chinese language, is a matter of opinion. The publication of the book will, in any event, be awaited with interest.

Byron's Hint.

Professors will never arouse the love of poetry by defining it, nor will poets by writing, it unless they make of it a spiritual communication. Byron did this, with all his faults and limitations, and the public suddenly said: "This is poetry" and they were right. In Byron House, in Fleet-street a marble tablet is inscribed with these words from Byron's "Hints from Horace." They are not subtle and they are not comprehensive, but so far as they go they are not likely to suffer from any new definition of poetry:—

"Tis not enough, ye bards, with all your art,
To polish poems—they must touch the heart:
Where'er the scene be laid
Whate'er the song,
Still must it bear the hearer's soul along."

Lafcadio Hearn.

Lafcadio Hearn once sighed that, if favourably circumstanced, he could have written books that would have gone on selling for twenty years. It is probable that his books, even as they are, will go on selling for much longer than that. He has interested readers on the Continent, and already a Frenchman, M. Joseph de Smet, has written a book on "Lafcadio Hearn, l'homme et l'œuvre." In Great Britain the multitude of readers perhaps hardly know how high Hearn stands in the eyes of competent authorities, and are not likely to know until a uniform edition of his works—of which, unfortunately, there is no word—calls out a general expression of critical opinion. It is in such junctures that lovers of a "speculative proposition" find their opportunity, and there are many collectors on the look-out for first editions. Better still, however, for those who can afford them than early editions are original manuscripts. They are the most personal of all kinds of relics, and, in the case of such a stylist as Hearn, are calculated to shed light upon his literary methods. Interest accordingly attaches to four such which have been listed for sale this month in New York. They were obtained from Mrs. Hearn, and are all that were in her possession. They include "Glimpses of Unfamiliar Japan," "In Ghostly Japan," "Exotics and Retrospectives," and the translation of Flaubert's "Temptation of St. Anthony."

M. Bodier.

M. Joseph Bodier, to whom has been awarded this year the Prix Gobert, is not now for the first time honoured by the Academy. His book on the Fabliaux was "crowned," and in 1894 won the Prix Marcellin Guerin; in 1900 his "Roman de Tristan et Isolt" was also laureated, and now, after thinking about it for two years, the Academy has recognised his two volumes on "Les Legendes Epiques." That work, as M. Thureau-Dangin intimated in the speech in which he announced the year's prizes, develops a new theory of the original of the Chansons de Gestes. M. Bodier had to begin with accepting a prevalent opinion that those epics had pre-existed as ballads and narratives, of which, indeed, they were amplifications. Researches, however, on the cycle that centres in the person of William of Orange, Count of Toulouse, led him to change his mind. He discovered that in the abbey in which that hero, turned monk, was reported to have died there had existed in the eleventh and twelfth centuries Latin narratives of his life bearing resemblances to the epics sufficiently striking to suggest relationship. Then the question how the jongleurs, who were of the North, could have access to matter preserved in an abbey in the South of France answered itself in a surprising way. It turned out that other religious houses had had similar narratives, and when upon the map M. Bodier had connected them with a pencil he found that the line traced the old Roman road that had at that time led straight through France to the shrine of St. James of Compostello. Now crowds of pilgrims would pass along that way, including men from the North, accompanied by jongleurs, who would sing at the halting places. The jongleurs had fraternised with the monks, who had told them the legend of William and thus furnished them with new matter for their minstrelsy. The reason suggested why William of Orange should be so popular a hero along this route in particular is that the pilgrims, being about to enter a partly Moorish country, would be animated by something of the Crusading spirit and would thus be in sympathy with one who was a great hammer of the infidel.

An interesting work is about to be published by Kegan Paul, "French Trubner & Co., Ltd., from the pen of the late Arthur Lillie who died so recently as November last. The late author who spent years of his life in India has written largely of Buddha and the influence of Buddhism on Christianity. The new work is entitled "Rama and Homer" and in it the author seeks to trace out the many and remarkable similarities which exist in the Iliad and Odyssey and Ramayana, the epic of Hindustan, and is likely to attract considerable attention, and arouse much discussion amongst the learned.

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1912.

THE SITUATION.

There is weariness in reiteration and it is difficult to say anything particularly new or illuminating about the position in China. The old facts may be dressed up in a new robe and exhibited as a novelty, but the discerning eye would quickly penetrate the disguise. As an alternative fiction may be made to masquerade as fact, but while these may be interesting journalistic expedients they are not particularly satisfying to the reader. In strict fact the situation is still shrouded in such absolute uncertainty that it is next to impossible for those not immediately connected with the revolution to determine how things stand. Probably it would be keeping within the bounds of fact to say that even the leading men of either party in China do not know very clearly the precise direction in which things are drifting.

It might be worth while to endeavour to set out the position as it appears to-day. We say appears, because there is much going on beneath the surface at Peking, at Shanghai, at Nanking and at Wuchang, which may render appearances deceptive. For example we have excellent authority for stating that relations between the civil and military office-bearers of the Provisional Government at Nanking, have been, on several occasions, strained to a dangerous degree. It is, therefore, well to bear in mind that the Revolutionaries are not altogether a united body, though, of course, in the face of a big common danger differences would probably be dropped for the time. An almost precisely similar position prevails at Peking. Yuan Shih-kai is apparently not quite decided whether abdication would not be the speediest and most satisfactory solution of the difficulty; the elder Manchus are disposed to favour abdication, the young Manchus oppose it and the Imperialist military leaders urge it. In the meantime the military forces of each side are on the move and a report states that General Chang Hsun's command has met with a heavy reverse.

It would be worse than idle, to attempt to prophecy, what the outcome is likely to be. There are so many "ifs" to be considered that a prognostication of any value is impossible. Climatic conditions we are told are all in favour of the Northern troops—if they remain loyal to the Throne. The lack of funds is affecting each side, but there seems reason to suppose that the Revolutionaries are rather more hard pressed than the Imperialists. That can be judged by the many dubious financial expedients that the Revolutionaries have resorted to of late. The threat to seize the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company's fleet, and holding to ransom rich men known or believed to have Imperialist sympathies, are indications that money is very badly needed. However, it has always to be remembered that much was accomplished before there was any machinery of revolutionary government at all, and that now at all events a beginning has been made. If this machinery is working properly funds should be beginning to come in. Still, as we have said already, the only safe course is to follow the advice given by Mr. Asquith in another connection—"to wait and see."

DAY BY DAY.

A half truth often becomes a whole lie.

To-day's Paper.

An announcement in connection with the Photographic Competition appears on page 8, where will also be found an interesting interview with the former Viceroy of Canton. On page 3 is a column on books and writers.

A dead body has been found in the Western district. Death was due to natural causes.

The bodies of two children have been found in Tsau Tsui Po, one six months and the other two months old. In the first instance death was due to small-pox.

In connection with the creation of the new capital, Delhi, the Government of India has decided to bring out a town planning expert from Europe to plan the city on modern lines.

A woman resident in the Western district has been taken to the hospital suffering from injuries received with a chopper. It is alleged that the wounds were inflicted during a quarrel she was having with a man.

It is announced in our advertising columns that owing to alterations and extensions to the Hongkong Electric Company's switchboard, the supply of electric light will be discontinued on Sunday mornings for the next six weeks from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. instead of from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m.

Two Chinese firms in Queen's Road, were summoned before the Magistrate, this morning, for selling coffee marked "pure," the contrary being proved. In the first instance the amount of chicory was six per cent., and a fine of $10 was imposed. In the second case the fine was $40, no less than forty per cent. of chicory being found on analysis.

At the Magistrate's yesterday afternoon a man named Se Kai, was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour on a charge of endeavouring to obtain $150 from a salesman carrying on business in the New Western Market, by means of a forged chop. One Cheng Kau, who the police charged with forgery, was discharged.

A man named F. Marie Souza, was charged at the Magistrate, this morning, with assaulting a woman and also with being in possession of a dagger. For the first offence he was fined $3.00 or seven days, and on the second charge he was fined $25.00 or one month. He was also bound over under a penalty of $100.00 to keep the peace for twelve months.

It is 97 years since power printing machines were first used for newspapers, making possible the large circulation on which the modern daily Press has been built up. At the annual staff dinner of Messrs. R. Hoe & Co., Limited, the well-known makers of printing machines, the interesting suggestion was made by Mr. G. F. Rend, one of the directors, that the centenary on November 20, 1914, should be recognised in some suitable way, with the help of the newspapers which owe so much to the development of fast-printing machinery.

Troops for Hongkong. Garrison Orders announce that the following details embarked at Karachi on board R.I.M.S. "Dufferin," on January 28:—20th Punjab—14 British Officers, 3 ladies, 1 child, 15 Native Officers, 811 men, 104 followers, and 25 animals. Supply and Transport Corps.—30 men and 54 animals.

A Quaint Excuse. Sanitary Inspector Royah summoned the Wing On Company to appear before the Magistrate for selling coffee in tins marked "pure coffee," which contained thirty nine per cent. of chicory. The company pleaded guilty and said that the coffee was intended for the people in the country and the Chinese of Hongkong, but not for Europeans. The excuse was not accepted and a fine of $25 was imposed.

The Japanese despatch vessel Tatsuta arrived to-day from Amoy.

A special cable from Peking states that Prince Chun, erstwhile Regent, has expressed his desire that the boy Emperor on attaining his tenth year be sent abroad to be educated and that this was assented to by the Empress Dowager.

The population of Kedah is 245,986 and that of Perlis 32,740, 80 per cent. of the population of Kedah belong to the Malay race and over 13 per cent. are Chinese. In Perlis 90 per cent. are Malays and 5 per cent. Chinese. The mean population of the capital of Kedah is 8,000.

Peking is greatly disturbed over the report that some twenty women, belonging to the revolutionary party and armed with bombs, have reached the capital and are watching for opportunities to blow up certain prominent personages. The police have made widespread searches and discovered many concealed explosives but none of the Amazonian terrorists have so far been apprehended.

A curious incident is reported from Poli, states a Dalziel's telegram from Paris. A man broke into the church there with the intention of stealing the famous silver statue of the Virgin and the gifts of jewels and precious stones which it is covered, its total value, according to the popular view, being over £40,000. The thief was climbing out of a high window with his precious burden when he slipped and fell to the ground, being injured so badly that he died soon afterwards.

An extraordinary story was, on December 29, related to the Halesworth, Suffolk, magistrates of a family of young children living in a "dug-out" on the common at Goldfairgreen, which had sacking for a roof and did not keep out the rain, although the children were young, four of them being twins of one year. Esther and Elizabeth Miller, who had the care of the children, and had treated all cautions from the Children's Society inspector with contempt, were each sent to prison for three weeks' hard labour.

The New Split.

Giving evidence in a case at Singapore last week in reference to the unruly behaviour of coolies from South China, Dr. Brooke, Port Health Officer, remarked that the public aspect was getting very serious. On every ship which had arrived from China during the last six weeks the same story had been told. Now, as a matter of routine, a force of armed police is sent on board every coolie ship, the work of the Port Health Officer was disorganised, and the cooler agents had to pay the costs of the ringleaders on one of the ships and this man had said, "We have a new Government and will not submit to anything."

The Deadly Parallel.

A New York telegram to the Paris edition of the "New York Herald," dated Dec. 28, says:—"The 'New York Herald' prints the following editorial under the heading 'The Deadly Parallel of a Steal':—'Yet again the deadly parallel has been used. Early Monday evening the 'Herald' received a special cable despatch from its correspondent in Shanghai relating in detail the proceedings of the revolutionary conference. This was printed, of course, in the 'Herald's' European edition, which is issued approximately at three o'clock in the morning, or about ten o'clock at night hereabouts. The despatch was also given to the London newspapers to be printed with credit to the 'Herald.'"

Along about midnight the Associated Press sent out a despatch, dated London, which was almost a verbatim copy of the 'Herald's' special despatch. This was printed by American newspapers in the Associated Press, and was by far the most important Chinese news of the day. It is unnecessary to characterize such an act. The parallel does that."

A FAMOUS WAR CORRESPONDENT.

Mr. William Maxwell, the famous special and war correspondent of the "Daily Mail," formerly of the "Standard," has paid a visit to Hongkong on his way out to the scene of revolutionary activity in China. Mr. Maxwell left the Hongkong Hotel, where he has been staying, last night for Canton.

Few indeed can claim so varied and so exciting, not to say so interesting, a career as Mr. Maxwell. He accompanied Lord Kitchener in the famous march on Khartoum, and was besieged in Ladysmith with Steevens, another great war correspondent who died there from enteric fever. Mr. Maxwell witnessed most of the fighting in South Africa after he was released from Ladysmith. Later he followed the Russo-Japanese war with Kuroki's Army and has been on tours with the German Emperor and the King; in fact few events of international importance have occurred without his presence. At the Delhi Durbar he was the recipient of His Majesty's thanks to the representatives of the Press for the services rendered and he was also the recipient of special appreciative messages on leaving India both from His Majesty and the Viceroy.

While en route to Hongkong he called at Penang and whilst there he interviewed Mrs. Sun Yat-sen. He has described her as "a delightful little lady."

LOCAL SPORT.

BILLIARDS.

Military Tournament. Two more games were decided between the R.G.A. Staff and the Hongkong Volunteers Reserve Team last night, both being won by the former, who now hold a lead on the four games played of 93 points. The first game was between Master Gunner Brown, District Staff R.G.A., and Mr. Duncan of the Volunteers. Duncan at the start gave the impression that he would win, making some capital shots, but he fell away, and Master Gunner Brown won by 78 points.

The highest breaks were:—Master Gunner Brown 17 (twice), 10 and 12, whilst Duncan's only breaks of any consequence were a few 10's.

The second game was between Major Kirke, R.G.A., and Mr. J. H. Mead of the Volunteers. This proved more interesting, both players making some good shots. The best breaks of the game were:—Major Kirke 14, 10, 21 and 15, while Mead's best contributions were 16 and 12. Scores:—Master Gunner Brown... 250
Mr. Duncan... 172
Major Kirke... 250
Mr. J. H. Mead... 220

SANITARY BOARD.

President's Congratulatory Remarks.

A meeting of the Sanitary Board was held yesterday afternoon when there present Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, President; Col. Irwin, Mr. W. Chatham, Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, Mr. F. B. L. Bowley, Lau Chu-pak, Dr. Fitzwilliams, Ng Hon-tsz, Dr. F. Clark, M. O. H., and Dr. Pearso, Assist. M. O. H.

Prior to the commencement of the ordinary business the Chairman said:—There are three things that I would like to deal with and I regret that two of the members are absent. I am sure that all the members of the Board will join with me in congratulating Mr. Howett on receiving the O. M. G. It hardly needs any words from me to show how much we appreciate the services that Mr. Howett has rendered to the Board. When we take into consideration the many other public services he renders, and the large number of prominent interests which he safeguards, I think we can feel very proud that Mr. Howett still graces the Board with his presence. The other two matters deal with the appointment of the new members. I think you will all join with me in extending a welcome to the new member, Mr. Bowley. He has for some years past advised the Board and he has now come to give us his advice more fully than in the past. Then, his advice was confined to legal matters, but now I think it will not be confined to any particular subject, but to matters in general. I congratulate Dr. Fitzwilliams on his re-election as second elective member of the board. I had heard rumours that he was not going to stand again but I am glad to say that he, if he ever thought of retiring from the Board, reconsidered his decision. The report of the Government Bacteriologist regarding the Pokfulam water supply was laid on the table at the meeting and it was decided on the suggestion of Dr. Fitzwilliams to defer discussion of the matter until next meeting, as the report was somewhat lengthy.

TRAINING NOTES.

Course Still Heavy.

It looks as if it will be some time before the course will be in condition; for the last few days it has not been conducive to fast going. The inside-track is very holding whilst the moisture in the turf on the race track proper, prohibits galloping to any extent there and any attempt at using this track without exercising great care would mean the breaking up of the ground.

Trials are taking place almost every day now instead of Wednesdays and Saturdays, and owners are very anxious to keep the full strength of their teams to themselves. This morning several ponies did times much short of the standard set up a day or two ago, but no-one was too keen on accepting them.

Mr. Kadoorie's Durbar Chief was in good form covering the mile in 2-20 and negotiating the last quarter in 34.1-2. It cannot be gainsaid that Mr. Kadoorie is in possession of a pony capable of bringing the Derby prize within his grasp.

Other performances were:—Mr. Soares Diabolini (one mile) 2-24, last quarter 35.
Mr. Bolden's Dousel (one mile) 2-30, last quarter 35.
White Carnation (1.1-4 miles) 3-12, last quarter 34.
White Hawthorn (1.1-4 miles) 3-3 1-2, last quarter 34.1-2.
Brushwood Boy last quarter 35.
Snowstorm (1.1-4 miles) 3-18, last quarter 35.
Cadsow Loon (1 mile) 2-30.
Marsago (1/2 mile) last quarter 32.1-2.
Urgent (1.1-4 miles) 3-22, last quarter 35.

BOMB EXPLOSION.

SHANGHAI SENSATION.

[OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]
Shanghai, Jan. 31, 9.55 p.m.
Last night a bomb exploded in a house on the edge of the Settlement, killing a Chinese and blowing in two houses which took fire.
Foreigners extinguished a second bomb, which burst, by pouring water on it.

AN APPEAL CASE.

Both Sides Object.

In the Courts of Justice this morning, the Chief Justice, Sir Francis Piggott, and the Puisne Judge, sitting in appellate jurisdiction, commenced the hearing of the appeal in the case of the Fook Lung firm, v. the Lai Yuen firm, the Shiu Lung firm, the Cheung Yuen firm, the Shiu Kee firm, partners in the Yan Wo firm, and Chan Kit-shan.

The case originally came before the Chief Justice, and plaintiffs claimed, that an account be taken of the money due from the defendant to the plaintiff, and of the monies received by the former in respect of the plaintiffs' trade mark. In the alternative the payment of $10,000 was claimed. It was also asked that a receiver be appointed and that an injunction be granted restraining the defendant firms from disposing of certain property.

The Chief Justice in the hearing in the lower court found for the plaintiff as regards the taking of the accounts, against all the defendants saying Chan Kit-shan, the case against whom was dismissed with costs and it was against this decision that the defendants appealed.

Mr. Marcus W. Slade, K.C., instructed by Mr. Holbrooke, appeared on behalf of the appellants, and Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr. Beavis, for the respondents.

Mr. Slade said he appeared for three of the original defendants, the Lai Yuen firm, the Cheung Yuen firm, and the Shui Kee firm; the other defendants had allowed judgment to go by default.

Mr. Pollock:—I have a preliminary objection to take.

Mr. Slade:—Solvay I (laughter)

Mr. Pollock:—My objection is one of very considerable substance because it is no less than an objection to certain amendments which have been made in the statement of defence, and I think I shall show your lordships that the amendments ought never to have been made.

Mr. Slade:—That is not a preliminary objection.

The Chief Justice:—It was understood that it was by mistake that the amended defence was asked.

Mr. Pollock:—It is an amendment which my learned friend made in his pleadings.

Mr. Slade:—We had leave to amend.

The Chief Justice:—And I cancelled that, because it was rendered unnecessary by the subsequent judgment.

Mr. Pollock objected to the amended defence on the ground that it was not made within 14 days of the date of the order, which thus became ipso facto void. The other objection was against the introduction of the Statute of Limitations which was only pleaded after judgment had been delivered in the lower court.

The case was continuing when we went to press.

If speed is essential to success in matrimony, then Alpha Davis, nineteen, Indianapolis, and George H. Bisel, forty, farmer, have qualified, says a despatch of Nov. 25 from Columbus, Indiana. "I'm glad to meet you, Miss Davis," said Bisel, as they were introduced at the home of a friend. Bisel talked three minutes with Miss Davis before remarking that he thought she was just about all right, and at least another three minutes before he "popped." "Let's get married," he suggested. "Well, I am game," said the girl. Together they walked to the courthouse to get the license. Thirty minutes after the first meeting they were married.

"NEWS."

How History is Made.

The following is portion of a "special" to the "Westminster Gazette" dated "The Club, Hongkong, Nov. 25." It is of interest, though it cannot claim to sacrifice picturesqueness to historical accuracy:

We are, I think, more in touch with the rebellion than you imagine, and the people here—the natives, I mean—are widely interested in it all, and are revolutionary to a man.

I am now living over in Kowloon, across the harbour, at which terminus one sees hundreds and hundreds of refugees coming pouring in from Canton, afraid of what will happen next in that city. Arrived at Kowloon they, for the most part, hurry to the ferry to be taken across to this side, where they are immediately allowed up in Chinatown.

Poor things! They bring all their small belongings with them, and the few sticks of furniture they possess, strung on bamboo, which are carried on the shoulders, and amongst the crowd one sees the lame, the halt, and the blind all struggling to get coolie quarters in the boats which are to carry them across.

It is a curious spectacle to see the small fiery Portuguese ferry officer—a kind of Captain Kettle without the beard—making them line up and take their proper turn, gesticulating, yelling, thumping and kicking them, all of which they accept with placid indifference as if it were just part of the day's work.

And talking of Canton reminds me of a man who went there from here when the trouble was at its worst. He was the only European in the city, and was frequently warned by his Mandarin friends not to venture; but, armed with a passport, he did so, and saw a good deal of shooting, pillaging, and looting. He was also able to get the first news that the Viceroy had left the Yamen, and was about to flee the city. This proved to be true, as he eventually arrived here, taking temporary refuge at the Governor's house.

He hadn't much choice—the Imperial forces turned their guns on his Yamen or palace, and threatened to fire if he gave in to the rebels, whilst the latter were to kill him if he did not desert the Manchurian cause and surrender. Being 'twixt the devil and the deep sea, he chose the latter, and crept away in the darkness. I am told that all the "white devils" were collected in Shameen, the European Colony, separated from Canton proper by the river which runs between them, across which bridges are stretched at frequent intervals, and none of them dared venture beyond its precincts except one man, who speaking Chinese perfectly, went into the city itself, employed a couple of coolies, and watched events. Amongst other things, he saw the rebels throw open the prisons and let all the inmates out to assist them in their cause, and now that Canton has "gone over" peacefully, this has had a noticeably bad effect, because the rebels have no money to support these cut-throats whom they have turned loose on society, and the latter, saying "We must live," have taken to their evil ways again. Some two thousand made straight for Kowloon, but the Yorkshire Regiment stationed here was at once despatched to the New Territories to meet them, and put the fear of God into their souls, and though this is only what one might call "show pigdin," it has served to keep the beggars at bay.

However, a more tragic incident occurred yesterday. A Chinese boat, manned by an English captain and officers, was passing up the West River when she was suddenly "surprised" by pirates, who murdered the skipper and several of the officers in cold blood, and looted the boat.

SHANGHAI STOCK EXCHANGE.

New Rules.

A pamphlet containing the memorandum of association and rules of the Shanghai Stock Exchange has been distributed by G. V. T. Marshall, Secretary.

The pamphlet also contains the amended rules passed at an extraordinary general meeting of the Exchange held on December 12, 1911, which were to come into force January 1, 1912.

Among the new rules is one which requires that every member shall keep a cash book, and a day book, showing every transaction whether cash or forward, and that such books shall be open to the inspection of a properly qualified chartered accountant on three days' notice.

The absence of such a rule as this has been commented on frequently by the courts in the trial of cases involving stock exchange operations.

Another new rule is one which prohibits the transaction of forward business with juniors in public or private establishments without the knowledge of their employers. The pamphlet contains the announcement that rules for the transaction of forward business are being compiled but have not yet been adopted.
